

MAYOR WILL HEAR UNION AVE. PROTESTS

In order that he may hear both sides of the controversy, Mayor W. H. Harrison has announced that he will hear residents of Union avenue and citizens generally regarding the encroachment of business on residence sections of the city.

The mayor stated Tuesday morning that the business of the city naturally would expand and that if it expanded normally, that is without skipping a block or part of a block, he was not opposed to it, but that he was opposed to a business being erected in a strictly residential part of the city.

The proposed meetings are the result of complaints against the erection of a garage on the Watkins Overton property near Bellevue boulevard. The mayor said, however, he has no preconceived opinion as to the merits of the complaint and that he would hear them with an open mind.

Cops Disguise To Chase Kid Skaters

Parade, roller skating!

The cops are to put the ban on this sport, (summer and fall) pastime, starting Wednesday.

Hereafter, both sidewalks and streets are to be closed to the kid roller skaters. There's a city ordinance against it, and the cops are going to enforce it. If they have to take every skater in the city before the juvenile court, for what they consider only the juvenile justice knows.

The latest attendant upon children skating in the street, where automobile traffic places scores of youthful lives in jeopardy daily, is one reason for the tightening up. The noise, and the inconvenience to pedestrians, is the reason for the ban on sidewalk skating.

Cops in Ford cars, and cops in disguise, will be detailed to haul in the youthful violators of the skating ordinance, according to Capt. Mike Keane, and the kids know the captain means business when he starts after them.

So it looks like the attic for the roller skates, with a "shanty" club and a battered tin can in a vacuum lot for the leading spinning sport.

Jail Couple Again; Charge Train Theft

When E. C. Brockton, 31, and wife, Etta Brockton, 25, of 212 Madison avenue, Chicago, were arraigned in First division criminal court Tuesday morning, a writ of habeas corpus was granted by their attorney, Ralph Davis. Six warrants, three against each of the defendants, charging them with bringing stolen property into the state were served and the attorney withdrew the writ, requesting that his clients be remanded to the custody of the sheriff after entering formal pleas of not guilty to each case. Amount of bonds will be fixed later.

The defendants were arrested on charges by passengers on an inbound train that they had been robbed.

ARKANSAS TARIFF HEARING POSTPONED

Hearing of the case concerning the proposed advance in freight rates of 4 cents per 100 pounds from Helena, Marianna, Proctor, Memphis, Dermott, Billville, Arkansas City and other points in northern Arkansas to practically all destinations has been postponed indefinitely, according to information received by C. W. New, treasurer and assistant secretary of the Southern Railroad Traffic association, from J. V. Norman, counsel for the organization. Mr. Norman wired from Washington.

The case was set for Feb. 14 in St. Louis before the interstate commerce commission.

The association is vigorously opposed to the proposed advance.

BREACH OF CONTRACT ALLEGED IN SUIT

L. C. Self, alleging breach of contract, Tuesday filed in circuit court a suit against Reed & Tinsley for $10,000 damages. The complaint asserts the defendants sold a saw mill to the plaintiff and failed to deliver it according to contract.

Alleging the defendants damaged her by selling a street, Mrs. M. Deem has entered suit against the Memphis park commission and the city of Memphis for $5,000.

FUNERAL OF MRS. CROSS WEDNESDAY MORNING

The funeral services of Mrs. Jessie Mann Cross, wife of C. C. Cross, formerly of Memphis, who died of pneumonia at Milwaukee, Wis., Monday night, will be held at Elmwood cemetery Wednesday morning immediately following the arrival of the body here at 9 a.m.

Mrs. Cross was formerly Miss Jessie Mann, of Browley, Tenn., and had many friends in Memphis, having been a frequent visitor here.

FACHINE GUN NOT ADAGE IN THIS CASE

Police adopted the French maxim, "cherchez la femme," when they found Robert Winston, negro, dangling a useless left arm, a bullet through his lung, and Clyde Trimble, with his left arm shot through and through Monday night at Trimble's home, rear 1189 Bayburn boulevard.

Hence the police report reads that Lizzie Trimble, Clyde's wife, caused the shooting. Both men were arrested.

He brought the news that bank identification was necessary before they could put down the $12,000 winning. All of the three apparently were strangers in Memphis. Harrison insisted.

Each stood by their money, while they said the pain.

Suddenly the pleasant feller stopped, snatched up the paper and the money in one swoop and started for the door. "You don't handle my money," said Harrison, starting toward him.

"Yes he does, too," snatched the slick feller. And he whipped a pistol from a holster under his arm, and pointed it at Harrison as the pleasant feller went out of the door.

A moment later he returned the pistol to the seahoard, and Harrison rushed out on the trail of the pleasant feller. But the bonds and the pleasant feller had disappeared. He concluded, when he reached Main street and Linden avenue.

So Harrison wended his way back to the Majestic hotel, and will you believe it—that damned slick feller had left too, and without leaving a forwarding address? Yep!

DUG GRAVE TO BURY
BABE; NOW IN JAIL

What's the poor man to do, between the high cost of living and the high cost of dying?

Sidney Carter, negro, was arrested Monday night by Police Inspector Bee and Sgt. Kummert, as he was digging a small grave in the bank of Wolf creek. The negro said he intended burying his newborn niece, who died just after birth. Undertakers charged more than he had for funerals, he said. Carter is held on the secret docket, some say, because police are at a loss to know what charge to prefer.

LOOK OUT RALPH.

A dress-up helper will be the thief who broke into Mike Harting's tailor shop, 244 South Main street, Monday night. He got away with 15 suits and 20 pairs of trousers.

THE "Getaway."

Harrison's $12,000 was in one pile, the slick feller's $12,000 in the middle, and the pleasant feller's $12,000 in the end of the bed, closest to the door.

"If Ferrolax helps everybody as much as it has me, you simply couldn't make it fast enough to supply the demand." said G. W. Williams, who lives at 27 South St., Charleston, S. C., while talking to a Ferrolax representative a few days ago.

"Yes, sir, this Ferrolax is one medicine that will do just what they say it will do," he continued, "and I don't hesitate to recommend it for I have tried it myself, and it sure did the work for me. Before I took this wonderful medicine I was all run down and worn out and never felt like doing my work. Was constipated and had bad spells of headache, very often. I was nervous and never slept well. My appetite was about gone and I just had to force down what little I ate.

"I just want to say right here that this feeling didn't stay with me long after I commenced taking Ferrolax. Why, I felt better after the first three or four doses and from that time on I continued to improve until I am now as well and strong as I ever was in my life. I have gotten rid of that tired, draggy feeling and my nerves are in such perfect condition that I sleep like a rock every night. My work doesn't bother me at all. In fact, I just find time the time and I give Ferrolax credit for it all."

Financial Conditions and the Price of Food

RECENT newspaper articles with reference to an immediate slump in food prices and living cost might be taken seriously were it not for certain conditions which still exist.

Quite true, the decrease in the value of foreign exchange and restricted credit limits to foreign nations have paralyzed our export business temporarily.

While this may have a tendency toward reduction in prices of some commodities, principally packing house products and goods of extremely perishable nature—PRICES AS A WHOLE WILL REMAIN HIGH JUST SO LONG AS THOSE CONDITIONS WHICH WARRANT PRESENT PRICE LEVELS EXIST.

Just so long as labor, the dominant factor in the cost of production, remains high; just so long as increased freight rates, combined with the uncertainty of transportation, continue, we can hope for little reduction in living cost.

The law of supply and demand is more powerful in its forces than temporary stringencies. With the demand in excess of the supply—which is particularly true at this time with reference to a number of staple foods—can we expect a material reduction in prices?

For eighteen years the Bowers Stores have enjoyed the reputation of faithfully serving the Memphis public. Through panics, wars and strikes we may be depended upon to render that DISTINCTIVE KIND OF SERVICE, embracing merchandise of dependable quality, courteous treatment and uniformly low prices consistent with BOWERS SERVICE.
